Other Income benefits

1. Severe Illness Income

The Severe Illness Income benefit provides cover for a comprehensive range of severe illness claim events. The benefit also provides cover for various impairments, injuries and infections, like joint replacements, gunshot wounds and bacterial meningitis.

Severe Illness Income (TIW3):

14 day Survival period

- If a claim is admitted, 12 monthly income payments will be made.
- Once a claim has been admitted, the 12 payments are guaranteed, even if the benefit were to reach its expiry age or the life insured were to die before the last payment has been made.

2. Death Income

This benefit pays a monthly income at the death of the insured life. The income payments are payable until the insured life would have turned a certain age, which is selected upfront, or if a benefit with whole life cover has been selected, until the end of the selected payment period.

Death Income (DI3):

- Benefit with a fixed term

The age until when income payments must be made can be selected as 65 or 90 next birthday. A minimum payment period of 5 years applies. This means that we will pay for at least 5 years, even if the life insured dies shortly before the benefit cease age.

OR

- Benefit with whole life cover

The Death Income benefit is also available with whole life cover and a payment period from as short as 1 year to as long as 25 years. In this case the income payments will be made for the selected payment period only.

Sanlam Protector Umbrella Trust option

If we determine from the medical and other applicable evidence we received for the claim that the life insured who is also the planholder, has lost their legal capacity to act, we will by law not be able to make the payment directly to them.

If they have however given consent for the Sanlam Protector Umbrella Trust, we will, in the above circumstances, be able to pay the benefits to the mentioned Trust instead, where the funds will be used in their interest. This avoids the long and costly process of appointing a Curator Bonis or Administrator.

Please note:

- All references to age 70 refers to the policy anniversary before or on the life insured's 70th birthday.
- Information in this flashfact and in the technical guide is with regards to the latest versions of the applicable benefits. Refer to the contract documents for information about the existing benefits of a life insured.
- A claim will only be considered if the life insured meets the contractual claim event definition of the claim event in question, as well as any other contractual requirements, as set out in the applicable contract documents.
